Issued by the Research and Human Resources Center. Remah / Jordan

www.ajsp.net

Arab Journal for Scientific Publishing

An international, refereed and indexed scientific journal issued on a monthly basis by the Jordan Remah Center for Human Resources. Which deals with different courses, whether literary or scientific, under the supervision of an editorial board and an arbitration committee consisting of university professors and researchers with higher degrees.

The Arab Journal for Scientific Publishing is an accredited journal for many Jordanian universities and universities in the Arab world. The journal has also been accredited to several refereed scientific conferences under the supervision of ancient universities. Over the years, the journal has included hundreds of research papers affiliated with Arab and international universities through publications and periodic numbers.

The Arab Journal for Scientific Publishing aims to be of assistance to Arab researchers, to help them publish scientific research and studies, shed light on scientific research, and help researchers to provide a scientific research center to publish their research in all fields, whether in Arabic or English.
